Moderator's Year In Review

WOW!!! WOW is not exactly a theological term but then I am not exactly a theologian. It is, however, an accurate statement of my year as Moderator of Peace River Presbytery.

Let me explain. Being elected Moderator is an honor, privilege and frightening experience that more often than not moved me out of my comfort zone and into the world of installations, ordinations and presbytery meetings. The Moderator's Training provided by GA last October in Portland brought together many of the presbyteries' incoming moderators for orientation and sharing which, although helpful, was somewhat overwhelming.

Back home in PRP it was a joy to preside over several installations as churches celebrated the beginning of a new pastor/congregation relationship. Installation preparation for me included meeting with the newly called pastor to review the worship service while sitting in the silent sanctuary and sharing his or her excitement. This quiet time of sharing is truly a gift that I will treasure and I am looking forward to being part of an ordination later this month.

Presbytery meetings require planning, organization and accurate record keeping and are never expected to run overtime. The mechanics of our gatherings would be impossible to accomplish without the careful attention to detail of our Planning Committee, Stated Clerk, Randy Moody, and Executive Secretary, Alesia Sharpe. They are always ready to answer questions, explain procedures and make smooth the path to correct any of my mistakes.

I would be remiss not to include the privilege of attending GA as a Commissioner. It was an opportunity to experience the breadth and depth of our denomination through work, study, prayer, worship and decision making. It was also a time to get to know and enjoy the fellowship of all the PRP commissioners. At our Presbytery Meeting, we had the opportunity to meet and hear from Rev. Dr. Jan Edmiston, one of the Co-Moderators elected at GA.

As this year's moderator, WOW includes all of the above but also has a deeper meaning. It was and is a time to share in the Witness of the Word, Christ alive and active in the churches of PRP. I did not visit all of the congregations in PRP, but those that I had the joy of interacting with demonstrated their love of God through welcoming hospitality, meaningful worship and generous support and caring of each other, their communities and the greater world.

The churches of PRP are like a colorful bouquet of flowers, each beautiful in its own way but with many differing hues. When I look at those gathered especially at our fall cluster meetings, I see a spectrum of individuals each bringing specific talents that they are willing to share for the work of God's kingdom. As we explored the many ways congregations encourage the development of spiritual discipleship, you could feel the energy and excitement growing. Our lists of possibilities are ongoing. How amazing is our Creator that we are all different and necessary in God's plan.

WOW, thank you for giving me this time to reflect on seeing the body of Christ in Peace River Presbytery and to share my joy in looking forward to the opportunities, challenges and changes that are ahead.

Blessings,
Lil Rea, 2016 PRP Moderator

URGENT NEED ...

Beth-El Farmworker Ministry has an urgent need for canned and dry goods. With the exception of rice and beans, our food pantry is completely empty. This week (11/15) the food pantry ran out of food to distribute before noon. Between 400 to 600 families look to Beth-El each week to help supplement their family's needs. Please help if you can. Many families were hoping that we might have some type of meat to offer for the Thanksgiving holiday, but that too is nearly impossible to find. If you can help, please call us at: 813-633-1548. Gracias!

Prayer Update – Nathan Hart

Thank you for your continued prayers! I have told Nathan that every congregation I go to to visit or preach, members come up to me and say: we are praying for your son; and he is deeply moved and appreciative!

This past Monday, before he began his 4th week-long chemo-therapy cycle, he got some really good news. He had to have a chest scan to make sure he did not have a blood clot or pneumonia before they installed a port for him to receive his chemo-therapy. All was well, and he got the port. In addition, when they reviewed the scan, they determined that the main tumor has gone from the size of a large grapefruit to a little larger than a quarter. Wow! Thanks be to God!

The challenging news was his blood counts after the last cycle went down to very critical levels, but the good news in that is the cancer is being reduced. Thanks for your continued prayers.
